Dear Eric,

In 1986 I visited you at your home and we discussed several areas of numismatics, especially early cents and half cents, the study of which I will probably continue indefinitely. After my visit you sent me a copy of both the Dr. Thomas Hall and Col. E.H.R. Green inventories of large cents. As far as I know, Dr. Hall did not collect half cents. However, Col. Green did. Could I impose upon you to send me a copy of his collection of half cents? Like before, this information will be kept confidential.

Do you have any other inventories of half cents and large cents that would help in my research?

Thank you very much for your efforts in my behalf.

Best Regards,
Del Bland

Dear Del:

For many years I have been searching for the Green collection list of half cents, which could have been prepared by B.G. Johnson. I have searched my files on several occasions and I cannot locate it. I am as anxious to find it as you are. I suspect it was never prepared.

The only item I can find is a summary in my handwriting of the total of the half cents being 418 coins in number. This could have been made from the writing on envelopes in which the coins were put. In addition to that, I have found a division of some of the half cents between Johnson and myself. This is listed on 3 pages. What I received was on the left side and what Johnson received was on the right side. They were to be equally balanced in value. I apparently selected the best ones I could from a collector's point of view, and Johnson took his portion and placed them directly opposite the ones I took so that values could be reasonably equal. Fortunately, Johnson's secretary copied the description from the envelopes containing the coins which I took and from the coins which Johnson took. I hope this gives you what you wanted to some extent.

Sincerely,

Eric P. Newman

Yesterday I found in my B.G. Johnson cabinets the list of half cents he sold on behalf of Armin W. Brand which includes 514 items, some of which had several coins in them. (I'm attaching a photocopy to study.) There were other smaller groups of half cents on other lists.

It must be understood that Armin W. Brand only received half of the coins belonging to his brother Virgil Brand, the other half going to Horace Brand. Probably this list represents only about half of the half cents as Virgil Brand bought collections of everything on a steady basis and often never looked at them. This is evident from the serial numbers in connection with groups of coins taken out of the barrels in which the coin collections were dumped, often with Virgil Brand looking at them. In other words, half cents were not kept together as would be expected.

Let's talk over whether this should be sent to anyone for study as I have now located many lists of foreign and U.S. coins.

I think you will find the attached quite interesting. There are a large number of proofs in this material including multiple specimens of some varieties. I have also sent a copy to Bill Weber.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Tet', with a long horizontal stroke extending from the top of the 't'.

 A to i, i, toward e. i. e. I have seen this break enlarged and much more prominent, than upon my cabinet specimen and have heard it called the Horned chin. Crossed 44. Break connecting, top of letter
